ARTICLE 2   WHAT IS A COOKIE?

A cookie is a small text file placed and stored for a limited time on your computer, tablet, smartphone, or any other device that allows you to browse the website.

They allow the website to recognize your device and store certain information about your past preferences or actions to make websites work, or to make them more efficient, as well as to provide information to the website owners.

In short, cookies help us to provide you with a good experience when you browse our website and allow us to improve our website.

ARTICLE 3   ARE ALL COOKIES THE SAME?

Cookies may differ depending on their duration or origin.

There are 2 types of duration for cookies:

- Session cookies, which are temporary and will be deleted when you close your browser
- Persistent cookies, which remain stored on the terminal's hard drive for a predetermined period depending on the purpose of the cookies. You can also manually delete these cookies.

Cookies can come from different sources:

- First-party cookies are created by the website you are visiting
- Third-party cookies are created by third-party vendors and placed by the website owner for a different purpose

Other technologies such as web beacons (also known as pixels, tags, or invisible gifs), tracking URLs or software development kits (SDKs) are used for the same purpose as cookies. Web beacons are small graphic files that contain a unique identifier that allows us to recognize when someone has visited our service or opened an email, we sent them. Tracking URLs are custom generated links that help us understand where traffic is coming from to our web pages. SDKs are small pieces of code included in applications that work like cookies and web beacons.

For simplicity, in this Cookie Policy, we use the word "cookies" to describe all these technologies.

ARTICLE 4   WHY DO WE USE COOKIES ?

We use cookies on our website for the purposes listed below.

→ Necessary cookies

We use necessary cookies that enable the website to function optimally. They enable basic functions such as page navigation, access to secure areas, setting of privacy preferences.
